

WEDC, through generous support from Con Edison, is pleased to present:

WOMEN'S GREEN
BUSINESS NETWORK

GOING GREEN: WHY BOTHER?

WHEN Wednesday, April 13, 2011, from 5:30 to 7:30 pm

WHERE C.W. Brown, Inc.
1 Labriola Court, Armonk, NY 10504
(914) 741-1212

Come early to tour the
LEED Platinum
C.W. Brown HQ
at 5 pm

Do you have questions about how and why you should take your business GREEN?

Want to learn more about methods and business strategies?

Learn from the experience of women business owners who are leading GREEN companies.

Hear about their commitment to – and the impact of – green business practices.

Renee Brown
CEO of C.W. Brown, Inc. in Armonk, a contracting company that bought a building in 2008 for their headquarters and remodeled it to LEED platinum standards.

Sharon Rowe
Founder & CEO of Eco-bags Products, Inc. in Ossining, founded her company 21 years ago, pioneering the reusable bag movement and manufacturing with fairly sourced and certified labor and materials.

Dani Glaser
Founder of Green Team Spirit in Croton-on-Hudson, a firm that consults with businesses, municipalities and organizations to “go green” using a team approach.

The program is being presented free of charge, thanks to our host, C.W. Brown, and a grant from ConEdison. Light refreshments will be served.

Space is limited, so advance reservations are required. RSVP by noon, April 8th by contacting Kenya Ajose at 914-948-6098 ext. 10. To register online, go to www.wedc-westchester.org or e-mail info@wedc-westchester.org

This event was organized by the Women's Green Business Network (WGBN) and presented by the Women's Enterprise Development Center (WEDC), with generous financial support from Con Edison, Inc., Co-sponsors are the Alliance of Hudson Valley Women Business Owners and Business Pink.

